

Join ChangeCamp, Australia's only participatory event about grassroots social change and active citizenship 1 July 2017 Sydney

ChangeCamp is designed around the following questions:

1. How can we help each other maximise our social impact?
2. How can government help us to do that more effectively?

What: an unconference for social outcomes.

Who: people from government, the NGO sector, businesses and citizens who want to, or who already are supporting effective social change in greater Sydney

ChangeCamp is being organized by engage2.

Why: We want to create a constellation of change agents to increase the effectiveness of people and organisations working to deliver social outcomes across Sydney.

When: 1 July, 2017

Our first ChangeCampAU will be in Sydney on 1 July 2017.

Register your interest now

Through ChangeCamp we hope to encourage the people and organisations making change in communities across Sydney by connecting them with others who can help them to ensure their efforts are effective and sustainable. We are bringing together people who are working on and want to learn more about how to best contribute to their communities and deliver social outcomes in our city.

We are looking forward to meeting you all and strengthening the community of social change agents across Sydney.